

Photography has a great scope as an art

and as a profession too!

With more and more teenagers learning this celebrated art form, Photography has opened up multiple avenues and career opportunities.

- 18000 students certified from IIP
- Presence across 36 countries
- Celebrating Ten Years of Excellence

A UNESCO research shows that art engages and enhances children's senses and develops cognitive, social-emotional and multi-sensory skills. Helping their self expression, thoughts and the brain to develop holistically.

“The left side of the brain is the logical and analytical, whereas the right side of the brain is artistic and creative”

“Around the world, educators are already fostering creative thinking with their students”

Jon Perera, Vice President of Education, Adobe

Collaborating for a change

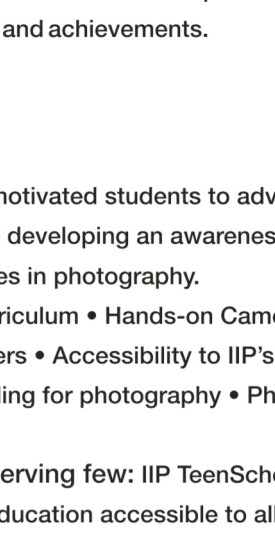

As an art form, Photography is beneficial in the long run.

Like most hobbies, taking up photography

- Teaches to be observant
- Teaches to be sensitive to surroundings
- Helps develop attentiveness to details
- Encourages creativity and individuality
- Encourages to be more expressive
- Enhances visualization skills

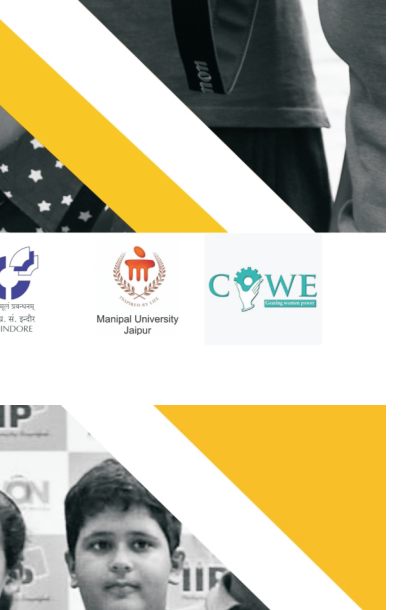

With the intent to make photography learning accessible and integral in growing up years

An enlightening space for teenagers to develop their skills as visual storytellers. Since its inception, IIP has nurtured and honed over 18,000 photography enthusiasts and students in using cameras to tell stories and contribute to social change. Helping them embark on a photographic journey that starts with them reading a photograph to being ready to click a photograph.

Housed in IIP's state-of-the-art facilities in Noida, IIP TeenSchool creates learning spaces for students in sync with the traditions and teachings of analogue image making. The program is designed to cultivate visual literacy, personal vision, and leadership skills through classes focused on the techniques and history of photography and visual culture.

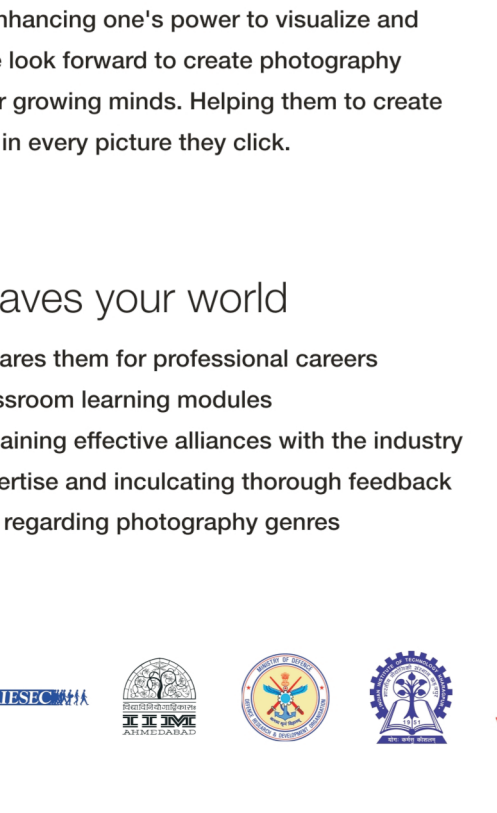

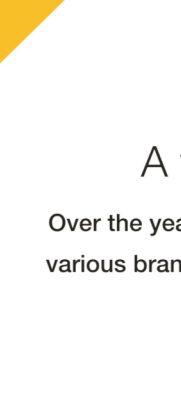

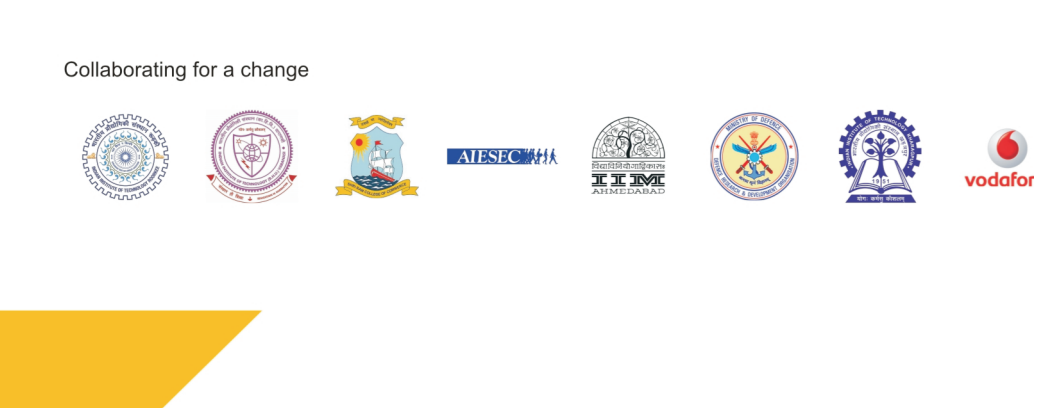

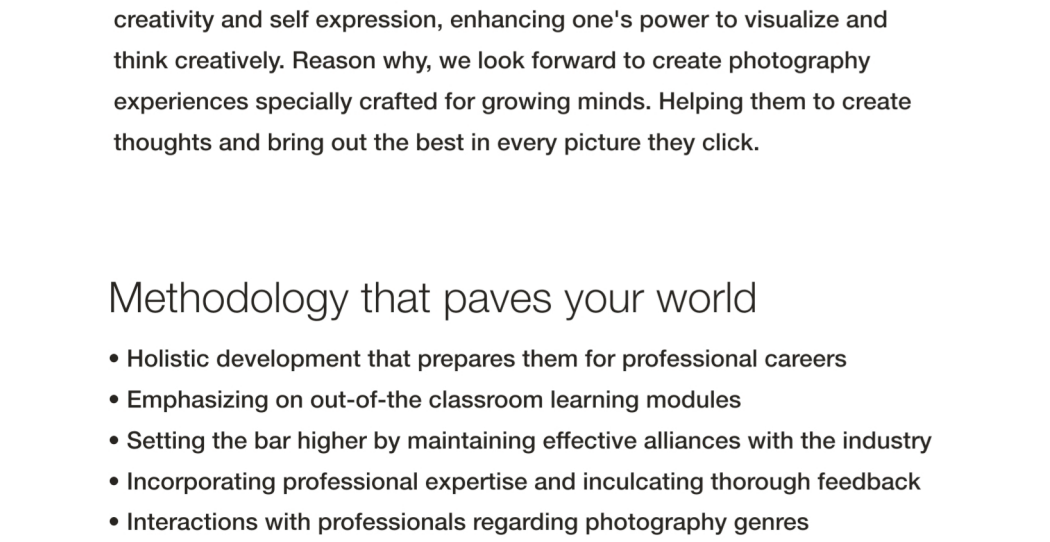

With a tailor-made structure to suit every learning need, this unique program includes photography across mediums with emphasis on digital and new media. Not just confined to classrooms, the students can also imbibe the art of photography through a well-stocked library, practice the art, mentor reviews, workshops and a lot more. The curricula is youth-centered and centered towards the development of every student's artistic bent, presentation skills and achievements.
